

Contents

Preface

Nelly van Doorn-Harder

5-6

Is Comparative Theology Catholic? Introduction

Judith Gruber and Ulrich Winkler

7-8

The Confessional Nature of Comparative Theology

Catherine Cornille

9-17

Is Comparative Theology Catholic? Expectations Regarding the Comparativist

Francis X. Clooney

To Dare Subtle Learning:

A Response to Francis Clooney's Plea for Comparative Theology's Catholicity

Ulrich Winkler

A Reply to Ulrich Winkler

Francis X. Clooney

18-39

What Are Catholic Theologians Doing When They Do Comparative Theology?

Paul J. Griffiths

Revelatory Alienations: Catholic Tradition and Its Loci Alieni

A Response to Paul Griffiths

Judith Gruber

Response to Judith Gruber

Paul J. Griffiths

40-58

Is Comparative Theology Catholic?

Klaus von Stosch

Response to Klaus von Stosch

Marianne Moyaert

Understanding and Appreciation: A Reply to Marianne Moyaert

Klaus von Stosch

59-77

What Counts As "Catholic"? What Constitutes "Comparative"?

Embodied Practice as a Site for Comparative Catholic Theology

Jeanine Hill Fletcher

Response to Jeannine Hill Fletcher

Is There a Natural (Catholic) Comparative Theology?

Daria Schnipkoweit

Response to Daria Schnipkoweit

Jeanine Hill Fletcher

78-93

Comparative Theology?

A Sideways Glance from the Perspective of Protestant Religious Education

Marcell Sass

94-103

Is Comparative Theology Orthodox?

Athanasios N. Papathanasiou

104-118

A Formula For Peace?

Anne Sender and Jens Oscar Jenssen

119-28

Contents

Preface

Nelly van Doorn-Harder
133-34

MacIntyre, Religion, and Dialogue

Three Rival Versions as a Model for Interreligious Dialogue
Brian White
135-51

Restoring Intimacy

Christian-Buddhist Resources toward Solidarity
John N. Sheveland
152-70

Myth and Interreligious Understanding in Raimon Panikkar

Mark Banas
171-81

Promoting Dialogical Democracy

*Dialogos Philosophical Dialogues as an Approach to Intercultural
and Interfaith Dialogue in Education*
Christian Stokke and Guo Hansen Helskog
182-201

Enhancing Relational Spirituality

*Dialogos Philosophical Dialogues as an Approach to Intercultural
and Interfaith Dialogue in Education*
Guo Hansen Helskog and Christian Stokke
202-20

Notes from the Grassroots

Paradigm Shift in Theological Formation towards Interreligious Dialogue in Ghana
Cosmas Ebo Sarbah
221-36

Trends and Developments in Interreligious Dialogue

Georg Evers
237-52

Book Review

Buddhism and Religious Diversity
by Rita M. Gross
253-71