

Contents

The Need for a Critical Planetary Romanticism: An Introduction

Whitney Bauman, guest editor
1-14

Reinterpreting Mantras as Religious Healing in Indigenous People in Indonesia: The Indigenous Religion Paradigm as an Alternative to "World Religions"

Andi Alfian
15-34

The Ritual of Minta' Ari': Dayak Iban Responses to Climate Change in Indonesia

Bibi Suprianto
35-46

Ritualizing Climate Grief: Exploring Protests, Civil Disobedience, and Climate Liturgies

Marion Grau
47-62

Green-Interfaith Dialogue on Garbage: A Case Study from Indonesia

Andang Binawan
63-80

Head Veiled Warriors, Khalifatullah fil Ardl, and the Pandemic: Aisyiyah-Muhammadiyah Caring for the Planet

Dewi Candraningrum
81-102

Vāstu Śāstra and Ecology: Vāstu as a Traditional Source of Ecological Knowledge

Vani Vignesh
103-124

Embodying the Trickster: Semitic Ethics at the Edge of the Abyss

Cara Judea Alhadeff
125-152

Contents

Editorial

Frans Wijsen

153-154

Crossing the Threshold: John Hick's Interreligious Eschatology and Its Hindu and Buddhist Influences

Mathias Schneider

155-182

Exploring the Role of Intrareligious Positionality in Interreligious Dialogue and Communication

Mark Fox

183-202

The Successful Life:

Comparing the Opening Chapters of the Psalms and the Qur'an

Peter Ho

203-220

The debate about esotericism in Buddhism and theosophy

Marcel Poorthuis

221-232

Absolute Emptiness or Divine Fullness? Christianity in Dialogue with Religion and Science

Joseph Bracken

233-244