

Contents

KATHARINE E. HARMON, An Historical Perspective for Women and Sacrament: The American Deaconess Movement in the Roman Catholic Church, 1964–1976	186
RANTOA LETŠOSA and B. J. DE KLERK, Liturgical Engagement with HIV/AIDS in Sub-Sahara Africa	171
BENJAMIN LEVEN, The Good Friday Prayer for Jews: A “Borderline Case” of Christian Prayer	78
BRUCE T. MORRILL, S.J., Holy Communion as Public Act: Ethics and Liturgical Participation	31
TIMOTHY O’MALLEY, The Kerygmatic Function of Liturgical Prayer: Liturgical Reform, Meaning, and Identity Formation in the Work of Josef Jungmann, S.J.	68
PAUL POST, Profiles of Pilgrimage: On Identities of Religion and Ritual in the European Public Domain	129
WALTER D. RAY, The Barcelona Papyrus and the Early Egyptian Eucharistic Prayer	211
MARIT RONG, The Trinity in the Liturgical Encounter	156
SIMON A. SCHROTT, The Need for Discontinuity: Considerations on a Hermeneutic of Liturgical Reform according to Sacrosanctum Concilium	56
TROY ANTHONY STEFANO, Manducation, Reception, and Communion in Alexander of Hales: An Analysis	230
ALISTAIR C. STEWART, The Christological Form of the Earliest Syntaxis: The Evidence of Pliny	1
MARTIN STUFLESSER, Actuosa Participatio : Between Hectic Actionism and New Interiority. Reflections on “Active Participation” in the Worship of the Church as Both Right and Obligation of the Faithful	92
ROBERT N. SWANSON, “In mortis articulo . . .”: A Fourteenth-century Rite from Durham Cathedral Priory to Implement a Papal Plenary Indulgence	9
DAVID FARINA TURNBLOOM, Eucharistic Celebration as Habituation	47
JAMES F. TURRELL, Richard Baxter’s Attempt to Rehabilitate Confirmation	16
CAS WEPENER, HENRY MBAYA, and MARCEL BARNARD, Worship in the Corinthian Church (AIC) in Phepheni, Eastern Cape, South Africa	252
JONATHAN L. ZECHER, Death’s Spiraling Narrative: On “Reading” the Orthodox Funeral	274